

Weak Erection

Being a sexual partner, but not too far behind that is a FIRM ERECTION. Men who are impotent know how disastrous erectile dysfunction can be on a person's confidence and sexual life. When having sexual intercourse many things must be present to succeed.

What can be almost as frustrating as achieving a Weak Erection?

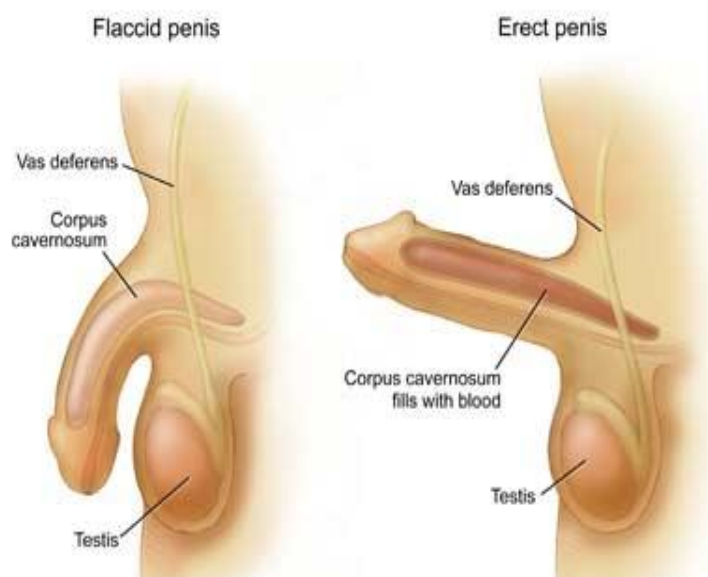

This phenomenon is very common and manifests itself in the form of a weak erection; when the penis is engorged with blood but not to the extent that it creates a firm erection for pleasurable intercourse.

Weak Erection may lead to:

- Insufficient blood flow to the penile sponge-like tissues.
- Inadequate stimulation for a sexual partner that damages self-esteem and confidence.
- Cause anxiety that may lead to premature ejaculation
- Lead to impotency

There are variety of factors that can cause a weak erection.

- The arteries and veins constrict and reduce blood flow
- Smoking and a high fat diet contribute to reduction of blood flow.
- Venous leaking brought on by a penile injury can keep a penis from holding blood flow, even sufficient flow
- Any medications such as depression medication..etc
- Illegal drug usage such as marijuana smoking

When the penis doesn't get a high enough level of blood flow, the penis cannot expand fully. Also, if the sponge tissues can't hold the blood, this also restrains the penis from growing to its full size.

How to deal with a weak erection before it goes too far?
